

Vincent J. Palusci, MD, MS

Vincent J. Palusci, MD, MS is Professor of Pediatrics at NYU Grossman School of Medicine. He chairs the Child Protection Committee at Hassenfeld Children's Hospital and is a member of the Trauma Team at Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Palusci is editor in chief of the journal Child Maltreatment, board president for Prevent Child Abuse–New York, and content expert for the American Board of Pediatrics. He has held leadership positions with the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Helfer Society, the American Professional Society on the Abuse of Children, and the Michigan child death review program. His research and publications have focused on identifying child abuse fatality, medical practice, and prevention, and he is here today to speak about "How the Multidisciplinary Team Collaboratively Identifies Child Maltreatment in Infants with Sudden, Unexpected Death."