Walk the Miracle Mile: Celebrate IAWA's 20th Anniversary and the Accomplishments of Women in the Aviation and Aerospace Industries

Twenty years ago a handful of women got together in Chicago with the idea of starting a networking group for women in the aviation industry. Since then, IAWA has grown in size, but our mandate has remained the same: to promote the advancement of women executives in the aviation industry by providing them a forum in which they can gather to network and share ideas and information. This year's conference promises to be a great opportunity to achieve this goal.

As an organization, IAWA relies on corporate and individual partners to sponsor the conference and our efforts to better the aviation profession. Please consider helping the association, continue the tradition of excellence you have come to expect from the conference and become a sponsor. This year, IAWA is introducing seven corporate sponsorship categories. Every succeeding level includes the benefits of the level preceding them. The following are the summaries for the levels. For more information, please go to www.iawa.org.

Beginning with the Patron level ($1,500 donation), each corporate sponsor will receive an acknowledgment in the Conference Program and on IAWA's website.

The Silver level ($2,500 donation) includes signage at the conference.

The Gold level ($5,000 donation) includes one complimentary registration to the conference, publicity in an IAWA News Release, as well as recognition on a big screen monitor at the conference.

The Ruby Breakfast level ($7,500 donation) includes two complimentary registrations, signage and recognition of the Breakfast sponsorship at the conference.

The Platinum level ($10,000 donation) includes another complimentary registration (for a total of three) as well as display space for your corporation's collateral at the conference.

The Emerald Luncheon level ($15,000 donation) includes another complimentary registration (for a total of four) and featured articles in IAWA's News & Views.

The Diamond level ($25,000 donation) includes another complimentary registration (for a total of five), logo and company recognition as a conference sponsor, top priority seating at the sponsored event, as well as the opportunity to introduce a conference speaker.

Conference Speaker Spotlight

CATHERINE LANG

It has been confirmed that Catherine Lang, the FAA's Deputy Associate Administrator for Airports, will be speaking at the 20th Anniversary Conference. She will be joining Rosemarie Andolino on the panel discussing "Today's Airports and the Use of Airport Resources in This Ever Changing Economy and Operations Environment." Catherine was appointed to her current position in 2003. Prior to that, she served as Director of the FAA's Office of Airport Planning and Programming from 1999 to 2003 and as the Office's Deputy Director from 1997 to 1999. Catherine was the Chief of Staff to FAA Deputy Administrator Linda Daschle. She has also served the City of Chicago as Assistant Commissioner of the Department of Aviation. She holds a M.P.S. from Loyola University of Chicago, and a B.A. from Briar Cliff College.

Getting to Know IAWA's Leadership

CONNIE LEWIS
LENSING

You may know that Connie Lewis Lensing is IAWA's Secretary, but you may not know that she is also the Vice President of the Legal Department at FedEx Express, the world's largest express transportation company. FedEx is a $36 billion dollar company delivering more than 6.5 million packages every business day.

Connie heads up a department of more than 90 professionals with all litigation prevention and defense responsibility. The litigation is primarily handled in-house. Before joining FedEx in 1989, she was in private practice. She is admitted to the United States Supreme Court, U.S. Courts of Appeals for the Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Circuits as well as to the bars of Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas. She argued before the U.S. Supreme Court during the October 2007 term.

Connie received a Juris Doctorate with Honors and a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism both from the University of Arkansas. She is past vice chairperson of the Arkansas Board of Parole and Community Rehabilitation (Governor Bill Clinton appointee). She currently sits on the Audit Committee and the Board of Directors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Institute for Legal Reform, and the Board of Directors for Lawyers for Civil Justice. She is a past recipient of the Minority Counsel Association's Employee of Choice Award given to spotlight leaders who commit to and succeed at creating and maintaining an inclusive corporate legal department.

GUILFOYLE

Kathleen M. Guilfoyle is not only the Treasurer of IAWA, but she is a shareholder in the Boston office of the trial law firm of Campbell Campbell Edwards & Conroy. In 1981, she graduated cum laude from Harvard University with a B.A. in History. In 1985, she earned her law degree from Northeastern University School of Law.

Kathy focuses her litigation practice on aviation defense and represents several airlines, airport authorities, and ground handling companies in cases pending throughout the state and federal courts of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. This litigation includes the defense of claims involving personal injury, premises liability, the Air Carrier Access Act, discrimination and general commercial litigation. Currently, she and her firm are representing one of the non-carrier airlines in the litigation pending in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York arising out of the terrorist attacks of September 11th. In this litigation, she also worked on responding to requests for information from the Kean Commission and she participated in non-public witness interviews of various airline personnel by Kean Commission staffers.

Kathy teaches annual civil litigation seminars and has written articles for various legal publications including the following articles: "Alleged Improper Handling of In-Flight Medical Emergencies: A Cognizable Claim Under the Warsaw Convention?" and "Asserting Claims for Sexual Assault Under the Warsaw Convention." Ms. Guilfoyle spoke on the Victim's Compensation Fund and the initial stages of the September 11th Litigation at the IAWA Conference in Lisbon, Portugal. She spoke on the impact of the Kean Commission Report and the closure of the Victim's Compensation Fund on the litigation at the IAWA Conference in San Francisco, California and she is presently scheduled to speak at the upcoming American Bar Association Program "Women in Transportation" scheduled for June 4, 2008 in Dearborn, Michigan.

Members in Action

The International Air Transport Association's (IATA) Food Safety Forum was held on April 2, 2008 in Miami, Florida, and two IAWA members, Alina Nassar and Katherine Staton, participated in the IATA Program. Also in attendance at the Conference was Danielle Medina, CEO of Medina International Inc. Alina addressed airlines' due diligence obligations regarding food borne illnesses and service in South and Central America. She discussed legal duties and requirements each carrier might face, and practices and procedures airlines can employ to address food borne illness cases. Alina is a partner at Nassar Abogados, and practices in Costa Rica. Katherine addressed the "Potential Liability Risks Airlines Are Exposed to in the United States Related to Food Borne Illnesses." This presentation covered the liability analysis and risks, jurisdictional considerations, and included a discussion of factors and operational considerations that airlines, who serve food or beverage in the United States, face pertaining to food borne illness. Katherine, a partner in the litigation section of Jackson Walker and a member of the firm's Aviation Practice Group, specializes in aviation and transportation cases, and is IAWA's President-Elect. IATA is a global trade organization whose mission is to represent, lead, and serve the airline industry. IATA seeks to improve the understanding of the industry among decision makers, and increase awareness of the benefits that aviation brings to national and global economies.

JANICE HOLDEN

Janice Holden, Chief Commercial Officer at JFK IAT, LLC, the first privatized air terminal in the US, was Keynote Speaker at the Airport Passenger Experience Conference 2008. The two-day conference was held in Zurich, Switzerland over April 1st and 2nd. The conference, which focused on ideas for creating high quality air travel experience and non-aviation opportunities included senior level speakers from Munich International Airport, Copenhagen and Rome Airports and Domodedovo International Airport among others plus airport service providers, such as, Swissport International and Innova Aviation Consulting. In attendance were representatives from airports from around the world.

KATHERINE STATON

IAWA President-Elect Katherine Staton spoke at the Women's Transportation Seminar (WTS) Heart of Texas Chapter luncheon in Austin on April 18. She addressed "Changes in the Aviation Industry for Women: The Last 20 Years." WTS is an international organization that advances the personal and professional achievement of women in the transportation industry. The WTS mission is transforming the transportation industry through advancement of women. The Heart of Texas Chapter is located in Austin, Texas.

JOANNE YOUNG

Joanne Young, Renee Martin-Nagle and Lisa Piccione all served as mentors at the April 10th Speed Mentoring Event held by the ABA Forum on Air & Space Law.

Joanne Young serves as the President of the International Aviation Club of Washington D.C. The next IAC luncheon will be on May 14th, and features an address by the Chairman and CEO of Lufthansa.

Marketing Partnership

LISA PICCIONE

IAWA joined with 23 major aviation organizations in support of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's 2008 aviation forum on April 3rd. Attending the meeting from IAWA were Lisa Piccione and Joanne Young, as well as Tulinda Larsen, Carol Hallet, and Kathy Kingston. The day-long meeting, "Aviation's New Flight Plan: Innovation, Adaptation and Consolidation," assembled hundreds of aviation professionals to discuss the challenges facing the industry. Over the course of the day, the forum addressed air traffic control (ATC) technology, fuel costs, airline consolidation and emerging aviation business models. In addition, IAWA member Nancy Young (Air Transport Association) moderated a panel discussion regarding the environmental and energy issues confronting aviation around the world. IAWA had entered a marketing partnership with the US Chamber of Commerce to cross promote IAWA at the conference and the summit in IAWA's material.

Mia Vouters and Elizabeth Freidenberg served as judges at the Telders Moot Contest organized by Leyden University in The Hague with the finals held at the International Court of Justice.
